STATE CONVENTION.

TUESDAY, Oct. 10.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock.

Prayer by Rev. Henry Hooker, of the Presbyterian Church.

The journal of yesterday having been read and approved,

Mr. Henry reported an ordinance on the basis of representation.

Mr. Ellis, from the committee on resolution of thanks to President Johnson, reported back the resolution with the following amendment and recommending its passage: Strike out all after the word "assembled" in the first resolution and insert "That the administration of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, has been eminently national and conservative, embracing every section of the Republic, and that he is entitled to the gratitude of the people of the State for the manifestation of his purpose to secure to them as early day as practicable, the restoration of their constitutional rights in the Union; and that W. W. Holden, Provisional Governor of North Carolina, deserves our thanks for his zealous and faithful labors to the same end.

Resolved, That copies of the above resolution be submitted by the President of the Convention to President Johnson and Gov. Holden.

Mr. Jones, of Rowan, introduced a resolution that henceforth the convention will hold evening sessions, meeting at 7 o'clock, p. m; also that the Convention adjourn on ——— inst., to meet again on the second Monday in May next.

Mr. Walkup offered a resolution that a committee, to consist of seven—one from each congressional district in the State—be appointed to take into consideration the propriety of memorializing the Congress of the United States for the removal from this State of all free persons of color, or any part of them, and especially of those persons lately held as slaves, but now emancipated; and that they report the result of their deliberations for the action of this convention

Mr. Jones of Henderson, presented a resolution in favor of the citizens of this State, honorably discharged from the United States army, being allowed to vote in the November election, if otherwise qualified, without exhibiting certificate of their having taken the amnesty oath.

Mr. Henry offered an ordinance concerning the election in November next. [Its provisions are identical with those embraced in Mr. Jones' proposition.]

Also, a resolution with respect to the incomplete internal improvements of the State, declaring that the Legislature should furnish from time to time such appropriations of money as will secure the completion of the system of railroad improvement west to the Tennessee line, in so far as may be compatible with the resources of the State, &c.

Mr. McRae moved that the convention take up for consideration the resolution introduced by him in relation to the per diem and mileage of members of the convention.

The motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted, pursuant to which the President appointed the following committee on the subject: Messrs. McRae, Lyon, Moore, of Chatham, Henry and Walkup.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The Convention then proceeded to consider the ordinance recognizing the just debts of North Carolina, and prohibiting the payment of all public liabilities created or incurred in aid of the rebellion, on its second reading.

A lengthy and animated debate was here evoked, in which Messrs. Moore, of Wake, Winston, Conigland, McKay, and others participated. During its progress, Mr. Moore, of Wake, proposed an amendment to the original proposition, contemplating the payment of certain debts and leaving it discretionary with the legislatures after 1877, to provide or not for the excepted claims—but this with the special proviso that the convention should not be understood as approving the latter class of claims.

Before the debate was closed and a vote had been reached, the convention adjourned over till 10 o'clock to-morrow.

A Strange Statement—How William L. Yancey Met his Death.

As you enter the cemetery at Montgomery and turn to the right you will perceive a colonnade of maple trees leading off to a quiet glen. Beyond is a grassy knoll, and leaving this to the left you will approach a pleasant level of greensward. Here you will be tempted to pause before a plain slab of white marble of the most humble description. It bears a single inscription: "William L. Yancey." His last words were: "Put me out of sight," and it is said that he was constantly muttering, towards his latter end, those lines of Pope:

"Let me live unseen, unknown,
And unlamented let me die—
Nor mound, nor monument, nor stone,
Tell where I lie."

His death was quiet and painless, after a year of acute physical and mental suffering. He was a strict churchman; a man of quiet manners; a handsome declaimer, and a fair scholar. He was never wealthy, and it is understood that he left his family without an independence

The time has come when the circumstances of his last illness and death, with the occasion which suddenly convulsed a frame from perfect health into a wreck, and mere shadow, may be mentioned as a historical fact. William L. Yancey came to his end by violence. It was toward the close of the second session of the first Confederate Congress, that he broke from the counsels and influence of Mr. Davis; and became with Mr. Henry S. Foote, a leader of the opposition. Mr. Ben. Hill, a senator from Georgia, had likewise changed his front, and was remarkable for the earnestness, personal interest and persistency with which he sustained the measures of an administration to which his allegiance had been given out late in the day. Mr. Yancey, it will be remembered, had returned from an unsuccessful mission to Europe, and was representing Alabama in the Confederate Senate.

The question of a navy was under discussion in secret session. The debate ranged beyond the parliamentary limits, and Messrs. Yancey and Hill became animated over the abstract doctrines of state rights and the divinity of slavery. High words passed, and finally the lie was given by Mr. Hill—Mr. Yancey leaped forward, and as he raised a blow at his adversary, was caught in the arms of the latter and violently thrown back over a desk. Mr. Hill is a man of wonderful muscular development. Mr. Yancey was never very heavy, though lithe and active. In the fall his spine was seriously injured, and when the bystanders rushed upon the two and dragged the one from the other, the great fire-eater lay unconscious upon the floor; with a little stream of blood oozing from his lips. He was carried to the hotel; a vote of censure was passed, and the occurrence hushed up. No one in Richmond except that body of men knew of the circumstances for six months after. Meanwhile the victim did not recover. He drooped from day to day. His senses [illegible] hopeless and vacant. He was transferred to his own home, where his consciousness passed a few months before his death, which was [illegible]

Little Rock Republican Extract.

Three murders were committed in Philadelphia within less than 24 hours, last week.

We fear the reverend gentleman who fills the Executive chair of Tennessee is about to fall from grace. Hear what the Tribune says of him:

Brownlow would make a pretty mess of Tennessee. He would disfranchise all the small whigs, hang all the leaders, and banish the negroes. This would leave about four thousand men to do all the voting, hold all the offices and vote. Brownlow would be sure of re-election for the next ten years.

A STRIKE AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.—The Norfolk Day Book is reliably informed, that the mechanics employed on two steamships in Baltimore a few days since, "struck" for higher wages, and that the steamers are to be brought to Portsmouth and repaired under the superintendence of John L. Porter, Esq., late Naval Constructor in the C. S. and U. S. navies.

MISSISSIPPI.—Election returns form Mississippi no longer leave a doubt as to the election of Gen. Humphreys as Governor of the State. His opponent, Judge Fisher, has declared his intention of urging upon the President his immediate pardon. It is thought by many that Gov. Sharkey's opinion that the action of the State Convention conferred on negroes the right of giving testimony in courts of justice, will defeat him for the United States Senate.

Two negroes sentenced to be hung for murder, and on their way to the Nashville penitentiary, were taken from the sheriff who had them in charge at Bowling Green, on the 9th, by some negro soldiers.

Gen. Grant is now in Washington, which place, says a correspondent, is to be his permanent residence.

—Blind Tom, the negro pianist, has been giving a series of concerts in Philadelphia and New York.—He draws well.

DAILY PROGRESS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

FRIDAY, OCT. 13, 1865.

DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.

The Copartnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the name and style of J. L. PENNINGTON & Co., has been this day dissolved by mutual consent. All claims against the firm will be paid by Mr. Pennington, and all persons indebted to the firm will make payment to him.

J. L. PENNINGTON.
W. R. RICHARDSON.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 12, 1865.

As will be seen from the above announcement, the undersigned has again become sole proprietor of the DAILY PROGRESS, and the publication of the paper and a general printing business will be continued by him. Thankful for the liberal patronage extended the paper and the establishment heretofore, he trusts by prudence, industry and close attention to business to merit and receive a continuance of the same.

J. L. PENNINGTON.

Settle Your Subscriptions and Other Bills.

We have been furnishing the PROGRESS to a large number of our subscribers, since April last, without any subscription money being paid, but, as all the expenses of the establishment have to be paid promptly, without regard to the scarcity of money, we must insist on a prompt settlement of our bills when they are presented. Our clerks are now engaged in making out and presenting subscription accounts to such of our city subscribers as are behind, and we trust all such will be prepared to pay the small amounts due when called on.

We have also considerable amounts due us for advertising and job work, some of them contracted before the close of the war, and some since, all of which we desire to have settled. All accounts contracted before the close of the war will be scaled to the value of gold at the time the work was done.

Many of our subscribers at a distance requested us to continue the paper until they could get currency and they would pay. We complied with all such requests, and, as six months have elapsed and but few have made remittances, we shall send their accounts and shall expect them to be paid. And we shall enter no more names on our books unless the subscription is paid in advance.

So far the work of restoration, in North Carolina, goes well, and all praise is due Gov. HOLDEN and President JOHNSON for the manner in which they have discharged the delicate, important and arduous duties devolving upon them. The Convention has declared the secession ordinance of 1861 null and void; it has declared slavery forever abolished in North Carolina; they are now finishing up the other little affairs requiring attention, and will leave us, we presume, the last of this week or the first of next. In November we shall have a Legislature; our Senators and Representatives will be at Washington with the assembling of Congress, to take their seats, and on or before the first day of January we shall have a Governor, elected by the people, inaugurated. The Governor has performed well the duties of the mission assigned him; the Convention has fully met the expectations of the people and the requirements of the occasion; and now, if the people of the State will only send the right kind of men to the Legislature and elect to Congress such as can take the required oath, the restoration of North Carolina to the Union will be speedy and brilliant. And for all this let the people rejoice.

WE trust we shall never be guilty of anything to disturb the kindly relations that have existed between the Progress and Standard. We have been the firm and constant supporter of the former editor of the Standard since 1858, and he will receive no more zealous or cheerful support from any one than we expect to give him in the coming contest. There was nothing unkind meant in our article reminding our neighbors that they had not always defended the "straitest sect" against all comers. We are sure the Standard desires no unfriendly discussion with the Progress, and we shall give it no cause to have such discussion even if it did.

Announcements and Recommendations of Candidates.

Announcements of gentlemen for office and the recommendations of tickets, being purely a personal matter, comes under the head of business, as much so as any other character of advertisements, and we now give notice that all such, made through the PROGRESS, will be charged for and must be paid for when handed in. No such publication will be made without a responsible name, and to insure insertion at all must be paid for in advance.

The State Convention.

The Convention yesterday, after the introduction of various ordinances, consumed the remainder of the session in discussing the public debt of the State—what was legitimate and illegitimate—how and when it should be paid. The debate, not only lengthy, but animated, had not closed when the Convention adjourned till yesterday without coming to a vote.

The North and South Fraternizing.

We have often remarked that there could be no Union of States worthy the name until mutual confidence and affection should be reestablished between the States of the North and those at the South lately in revolt. And time and intercourse will give us these desirable results. The National Intelligencer, in a late issue, says:

The leading characteristic of business life in every part of the country is restored confidence in the future of the Union. To this increased confidence we must attribute the energy and activity with which business, in all its branches, is now prosecuted, and also the speculative movements which look to increasing demands for all products of industry and for transportation, and improved facilities for commerce. The public have but just begun to realize the great fact that the Union is placed on a firm basis, and all the stronger for the rude shock which it has withstood.

A marked element of the present unparalleled prosperity of the manufacturing and commercial States is the actual and prospective extent of Southern trade. Southern men are revisiting the North in numbers, and well supplied, not only with means for settling old scores, but of establishing relations for active and extensive interchange of commodities in future. They are hopeful of a speedy recovery of Southern agriculture, and are confident that the labor question, which perplexes politicians, will find its solution through the influence of common sense and common interests. One or two good crops will put the South on an easy footing, and already Southern merchants and others representing Southern interests command credit upon the advancing prosperity of their region. It is also remarked in New York that the South cannot have been so entirely moneyless as had been supposed at the close of the war, for a considerable amount of hidden treasure or inactive capital has already been developed, and been liberally employed in paying or compromising old debts due in the North and in the purchase of goods so much required for Southern consumption. It is probable that our greenbacks found their way in large amounts to the South during the war, and prudennt people who had gold, or obtained it from the sale of their cotton, have held it in reserve for the day when Confederate bonds or notes were worthless. The chiefs of the blockade-runners, like Mr. Trenholm and others, did not make so much money as had been supposed by their traffic. The smaller adventurers in this line took their returns in gold, and retained it, and this is one of the sources of the funds which Southern merchants now employ in the Northern markets; but the large operators received their returns in goods, which they sold for Confederate money. This paper has either fallen dead on their hands, or was employed in the purchase of plantations and slaves at exaggerated prices.

The impetus given to manufactures and trade by the aggregate demands at the South and West for goods, both foreign and domestic, is magical. Prices and profits have risen to a fabulous extent. Manufactures of every kind are paying enormous profits to all who are concerned with them, and it is from their increased products that the internal revenue has of late been so largely augmented. The time is at hand when manufactures in this country will, by means of an imposition upon them of a moderate excise duty, contribute a very large portion of the revenue necessary for the wants of the Government.

Card From Mr. Richardson.

As will be seen by the following card, Mr. W. R. Richardson is not a candidate for the Legislature. Mr. R. has many devoted friends and would, no doubt, be elected if a candidate, but he positively declines to permit his name to be used in that connection:

TO THE VOTERS OF WAKE COUNTY.—As there seems to be an impression in different parts of the county that I am a candidate for a seat in the Legislature to assemble in this city during the ensuing month, and in order that my friends may be advised upon the subject, I take this method of informing them and the voters of the county generally that I am not a candidate for the position referred to. I advise my friends who have urged me to run to go to the polls on the day of election and cast their votes for good and true Union men, no "new comers," but men who will stand by the administration of Gov. Holden, and who will endorse the magnanimous policy of President Johnson.

In conclusion, I beg leave to tender my most sincere thanks to my friends for the zeal manifested in my behalf, and assure them that their kindness will be cherished and remembered by me during life.

W. R. RICHARDSON.

SOMETHING FOR OUR YOUNG LADY READERS.—The Paris correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, after announcing Queen Victoria's departure for Germany, relates this piece of gossip:

"Before leaving she took a fancy to spinning, and ordered a mechanic of Spittalfields to make her a spinning wheel. He finished one of so exquisite workmanship that she ordered one for each of her palaces and castles. The good royal matron resumes the occupation of the simple ladies of the old and unaffected times, and, be sure, her example will not be lost on the crinolined and jeweled ladies of our age. The inclinations and fancies of queens dictate the fashions at the spinning wheel as well as at the court toilet."

PRACTICAL NON-RECOGNITION OR NON-ASSUMPTION.—We learn that a day or two since a bond was presented to Gov. Holden for payment, for one thousand barrels of rosin, signed D. K. McRae; and that Gov. H. at once told the holder of this bond that he had no authority to pay it. Mr. McRae, it will be recollected, was one of Gov. Vance's agents in Europe for the sale of rosin bonds to purchase war supplies, and the belief is that Mr. McRae's operations were quite brilliant while they lasted. But be that as it may, this bond was not paid, and this is what we call practical non-recognition of the war debt.—Standard.

Later news from Mexico says that a force of 1,200 Mexicans, under Cortinas, is marching on Matamoros, plundering everything as they go. A decisive victory of 900 Mexicans over 3,500 imperial troops, in July, is claimed, with the capture of prisoners, arms, and trophies.

Maximilian has issued an imperial decree which nominally abolishes slavery in Mexico, but at the same time establishes a system of peonage in the empire which is scarcely less obnoxious than slavery itself.

There is no truth in the reported story of what General Grant said about Mexican affairs. Judge Catron denies that the General ever used the language, or anything to the purport of that published in the Philadelphia dispatch. Nobody, we presume, ever put the slightest faith in the statement.

Mobile is once more in communication by rail with Montgomery, via Knoxville and Lynchburg, and the inevitable Adams' Express has also found its way there. Considering what Sherman's troops did in the intervening region, this is pretty rapid "reconstruction," and the iron bands will do much to unite the lately hostile regions in enduring connections.

Garroting, robbing and like amusements continue in Washington city, and it is not considered safe to go in the streets after night. We advise such of our people as may have to go there in quest of pardon or for other purposes, to lock themselves in securely at sun-down.

STATE ITEMS.

The Sykes [illegible] is progressing favorably at Wilmington. The Dispatch of Tuesday has this:

"A very important and interesting trial, involving the lives of two respectable citizens of Bladen county, is now in progress in the U. S. district court room in this place, before a military commission, convened by order of Major Gen. Ruger.

"The prisoners were arraigned yesterday and plead not guilty, and also entered a plea to the jurisdiction of the court. They are Messrs. John L. McMillan and Neil McGill, and the charge is the murder of Matthew P. Sykes, another citizen of Bladen county, in violation of the laws of war, on or about the 10th of April, 1865.

The counsel for the prisoners are Adam Empie and A. M. Waddle, Esqs. But one witness has been examined so far, Catharine A. Sykes, widow of deceased. Her testimony was to the effect that the accused tied Sykes, on the morning specified in the indictment, and accusing him of piloting the Yankees to their houses, told him to prepare for death. They then led him away and that evening, accompanied by others, she found him in the woods tied to a tree and dead, his stomach and breast appearing to have been badly stamped.

The court then adjourned till next day.

Levi Price, Jerry Johnson and Edmund Perkins, three negroes, arrested at Newbern on the charge of stealing two bales of cotton, plead guilty to the charge Wednesday and were sentenced each to six months labor on the streets.

A very indignant negress, at Wilmington, on Tuesday, growing jealous because of the inconstancy of her sable Romeo, fired upon him with a pistol near St. James's church, the ball taking effect in ——'s fence near by and Sambo taking to his heels very cleverly.

The military commission at Salisbury is now engaged in the trial of John W. Gorman, charged with complicity in the late emeute at Concord. He is defended by J. M. Long and W. H. Bailey.

We learn from the Fayetteville News that two lines of daily stage coaches are now running from Fayetteville to Warsaw, to connect with the trains on the Wilmington and Weldon railroad.

There are negroes in every community who are constantly contributing to defeat the welfare of their race. Wilmington seems to be cursed with a superabundance of such characters. There is the highest authority for saying that on Friday last two negro soldiers fired upon two small white girls, in that city, on Dock, between fifth and sixth streets. The girls had started across the street to the house of a neighbor directly after tea, the moon being bright and fearing no molestation. When about midway between the houses, these devils halted them, when the girls became frightened and ran back, and just as they reached the gate two shots were fired at them, but without injuring either. The fiends could not be identified, else the pleasure of hanging might be afforded them by the court martial soon to convene there. The girls were about twelve and fourteen years of age respectively.

THE TEST OATH.—Richmond papers of Thursday contain a letter from Gov. Pelrpont, answering the interrogatories of J. W. Lewellen, touching the eligibility of candidates.

The Governor says: "It is peculiarly painful at this time in the disturbed condition of the State, when there are so many petitions for pardon on file at Washington, and meetings are being held in a large number of counties in the State, passing resolutions declaring the loyalty of the people to the Federal and State Governments, that there should be reason for raising these questions. Congress, acting under a provision of the Constitution of the United States, which is in these words, to-wit: 'Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members, has passed a joint resolution declaring that all its members shall take the oath to which you refer.'

That resolution prescribing the oath will have to be repealed before any member who cannot conscientiously subscribe to it can take his seat.

It is not expected that Congress will repeal that resolution in order to give seats to members who cannot take the oath. He concludes as follows:

But has it not the appearance of persistent and continued rebellion for men to run for Congress who, by the law of Congress, cannot take their seats? If this class of men are sent to Congress, the members of Congress will conclude that the representative is a type of the people, and will be likely to reject them."

A LOYAL MAN IN THE ALABAMA CONVENTION.—The Montgomery (Ala.) correspondent of the Chicago Journal gives the following account of an original Unionist in the Alabama State Convention. We wish there were more of the same kind there:

Among these the most remarkable is the case of Mr. C. C. Sheets, of Winston county, who entered the Convention of 1861 from the obscurity of the wilds of Northern Alabama, a youth of twenty-one. He battled nobly against the perpetration of the secession apostasy, and earned a dangerous prominence by his hardihood; and, after doing all that ingenuity and fortitude could suggest, he alone, in the face of a threatening Convention and a malignant "secesh" community, without signing the ordinance of secession, and with the most vehement anathemas against it, committed himself and his constituents to an eternal and unchanging enmity to the new oligarchy. The sequel to this is found in his incarceration for fourteen months in a rebel prison, with the terrors of a criminal execution hanging over his head, and a final triumphant return to a Convention whose sole duty is to ratify the doctrines he so strongly advocated, and contemplate the misery he warned them to avoid. He stood and stands yet "alone in his glory."

The Wirz trial, which seems to be rather an expensive affair to the Government, draws its slow length along. The prisoner's counsel wanted to bring Gen. Lee and other prominent rebel officers to the stand, but the court objected, because they were co-conspirators with the accused. The trial will be an expensive one. The Government has subpœned every witness asked for by the defense and defrayed every expense. One clerical witness was brought from Florida at an expense to the Government of some $1,200, who, when put upon the stand, could only testify that he had been to Andersonville, had seen Cap. Wirz once, received a pass to enter the stockade and preach to the men, and that Capt. Wirz was civil on the occasion. Another witness, a lady from Georgia, could only testify that Capt. Wirz permitted her to feed a Union prisoner. This cost Uncle Sam about $1,000.

THE WIRZ TRIAL.—A late dispatch from Washington says:—The progress of this trial will be retarded by another delay until Thursday, in order to afford the defense time to hit testimony. Colonel Chipman will [illegible] had revoked the subpœnas for General Lee, Mallory, Seddon, Surgeon-General Moore and others, because they were unpardoned, and if brought to the stand must convict themselves of treason. He believed that the law would not allow them to testify for the prisoner, because they were themselves implicated by the indictment. Their testimony, however, was admissible as evidence against the accused. As for Colonel Chipman, in declaring that evidence was forthcoming which would exculpate Wirz with the basest atrocities. The court took a recess till Thursday.

S. M. Pettingill & Co., 37 Park Row, New York City, and 10 State street, Boston, Mass.

Other agents will be announced as soon as their arrangements can be made.

Where there are no agents persons can send money by mail. No paper sent until the subscription is paid.

THE ADVANCE OF FASHION AND SCANDAL—THE GALLOP.—A watering place correspondent thus describes the popular dance, the gallop:

This gallop is comparatively a new dance. The gentleman claps his arm around the lady's waist, and squeezes her ad libitum, and the lady drops hers around his neck and lovingly lolls her head upon her shoulder, and both go spinning and panting down the room at a speed elsewhere seen only at Dutch lager beer gardens after forty glasses each. Imagine a team consisting of a blind mule and a lame cow hitched to a cart, whereof one wheel is twice the size of the other, and neither is round, driven rapidly over a superannuated corduroy road, and you will have some idea of the motion of the gallop, and nothing short of that will do. The old, graceful, plain waltz, the schottische and polka, with even their license, were bad enough, but when the bottoms of skirts go far above where the dress tops ought to be; when the lady's flushed cheek literally lies on her partner's shoulder, and his too often whiskey scented breath scorches her bosom; when the whole dance seems especially contrived to secure unrestrained hugging and to exhibit female stockings in a distended shape, the thing, though perhaps fashionable, becomes a little too much for decent humility.

A Washington dispatch, October 8th, says:—The speech just made by Governor Morton, of Indiana, in support of President Johnson's policy of reconstruction, is regarded as important in executive quarters. His reflections against the Democratic party are matters of course, but he is strongly on the record against negro suffrage. A very prominent official of this city, who has been in Indiana some time back, asserts that the negro suffrage policy would be voted down in Indiana by from 50,000 to 100,000 majority.

Governor Morton does not condemn the favorite radical idea of excluding the Southern Representatives from Congress, but the idea is gradually gaining form here that the law of 1862 cannot exclude them primarily. It is not competent for a Congress to make a law to control subsequent Congresses as to the men that they will recognize as members.—The Representatives who shall come here next winter from the South will not be summarily and violently dealt with.

The 1st regiment colored troops, from the District of Columbia, reached Washington on the 8th and were enthusiastically received.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

In the year 1846, the writer embarked in the Drug business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged, made several experiments in regard to the most available mode of preparing Fluid Extracts. My efforts being successful—the articles being approved and used by the medical faculty—I was desirous of placing them before the public, but hesitated for some time before proceeding to resort to newspaper advertising, knowing the prejudices that existed in the minds of many against using advertised Medicines or Nostrums, but through the advice of friends and those who had used them this objection was overcome.

After 18 years' exertions, commencing in a small way, the popularity of my articles has extended to all parts of the United States, and widely throughout foreign countries—and this in the face of much opposition.—Every means has been resorted to by unprincipled dealers to advance their merit and success have been known—such as advertising large bottles at less price, censuring all other preparations, and even copying my advertisements but I am happy to state that out of the many who have resorted to this, none have been successful.

MY OBJECT

in this notice is to make facts known to the public and honorable dealers, believing, after so many years' experience, that the Druggists will discountenance such proceedings, and that the reputation of my articles may not be damaged by the use of inferior or spurious ones. Supposing that many may read this article who are unacquainted with me, I append a few remarks from those of the active city, and whose names are known in all parts of the world:

I am personally acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold, and affords me pleasure in stating I have been most favorably impressed with his energy and integrity, and pleased at his success." WM. WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.]

When on a visit to the city of New York, a few days since, I was induced to call on our old friend and townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist, 594 Broadway, N. Y. His store is a model—a perfect gem—the handsomest of any kind we have ever had the pleasure of viewing, and so extensive, being 34 feet front, five stories in height, and over 200 feet deep. It indeed affords us much pleasure to know that he has been so successful as his ample evidence of the merits of his articles—as in a whole business experience we have not known of the success of any articles without merit—advertising of course bringing the name before the people."

[Boston Herald.]

We do not like to advertise worthless wares, or articles calculated to deceive our readers; and when we find an advertiser like Mr. Helmbold, whom we have known for years, gradually extend his advertising from year to year until he becomes the largest advertiser in the United States, we are satisfied that the statements made in regard to his articles must be correct."

The writer reluctantly inserts the above, and would not do were he not a stranger to many; and concludes by saying the names of his articles, and the diseases for which they have been used by many thousands with unparalleled success.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

Cures all diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures Nervousness, Weakness in the Back, Strictures, &c.; Cures Affections of the Nerves, Loss of Memory, Trembling, Diseases of the Urinary Organs.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

Is a fluid extract, not a weak tea or infusion. Is the thing needful for all complaints incident to Females. Pamphlets and circulars send for circular.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

Cures Travel and Dropsical Swellings existing in Men, Women or Children, in fact all diseases requiring the use of a Diuretic. It is the greatest Tonic and Diuretic known—perfectly safe, pleasant in taste and odor, and immediate in its action.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA,

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED.

One bottle equivalent in strength to one gallon of the Compound Decoction

Purifies the seat of the disease immediately, expelling HUMORS OF THE BLOOD, and

BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.

As the articles, being of such great strength, the dose is extremely small. From this fact, it is used in the United States Army Hospitals and public Sanitary Institutions throughout the land.

Sold by all druggists everywhere.

Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other!

Cut out the advertisement and send for it, thus avoiding worthless Counterfeit.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1865.

The Great Invention of the Age in

Hoop Skirts.

J. W. BRADLEY'S NEW PATENT DOUBLE ELLIPTIC, (OR DOUBLE) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS INVENTION CONSISTS OF DOUBLE (OR two) Elliptic Pare Rolled Steel Springs, so gracefully braided lightly and firmly together, side to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, durable and graceful spring ever used. They cannot bend or break, like the single Springs, and consequently preserve their position and elasticity three times longer than twice as long as any single spring Skirt that ever has or will be made.

The great flexibility and graceful adaptation and pleasure to any lady wearing the Double Elliptic Skirt, as an improvement over the single, is always admirable. Having remnants and packages of Goods that they wish to realize on at once, will find it to their interest to put them in our hands. B. P. WILLIAMSON & CO.,

TELEGRAPHIC.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

From Washington—Abolition of Martial Law in Kentucky—The Virginia Elections.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The Committee from the South Carolina convention had an interview with the President to-day concerning the pardon of Jefferson Davis.

The President has issued a proclamation relieving Kentucky from martial law.

A dispatch from Fortress Monroe says the election passed off quietly. The Union candidates in the first and second districts of Virginia are probably elected.

L. H. Chandler is undoubtedly elected to Congress from the Norfolk district.

THE RICHMOND PRESS.—The military order suspending the Commercial Bulletin has been revoked and the paper has reappeared.

H. Rives Pollard, Esq., is to revive the Examiner soon.

In a few days the old Enquirer, which, for over forty years controlled the political sentiment of Virginia, is to reappear with new type, under the editorial control of Nat. Tyler, Esq.

About the first of November, the Richmond Dispatch will be revived by Messrs. Jas. A. Cowardin and H. K. Ellyson.

Champ Ferguson's sentence to be hung was read to him at Nashville on the 9th.

MR. RAYNER'S LETTER.—The National Republican, published at Washington city, in its issue of Monday last, says:

The National Republican of Wednesday will contain a remarkable letter by the Hon Kenneth Rayner, of North Carolina, on the State of the Nation.

—The Herald is evidently in the employment of the Democrats, and against the Republicans, in the present political contest in New York State.

AUCTION SALES
GOVERNMENT PROPERTY
IN THE
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

AUCTION SALES OF HORSES, MULES, ARMY Wagons, Spring Wagons, Harness and other government property will take place from time to time at the principal cities and towns in the State.

These sales will afford farmers excellent opportunities to stock their farms with any class of animals they desire to purchase.

Each sale will embrace a variety of stock, including riding and draught Horses and Mules of every class. A few very large Mules, thoroughly broken to harness, and in fine condition, will be offered at each sale.

The attention of capitalists and dealers in stock is particularly called to the opportunities here presented for profitable investment. Stock purchased for cash at these sales may be sold on credit, with ample security, at a large advance, to farmers who are depending on their growing crops for means to purchase—or may be retained, and sold for cash at a large profit after the crops have matured.

Terms CASH on day of sale.

Sales will continue during the months of September and October will be advertised in this column as soon as dates are fixed.

MR. EDITOR:—THE FOLLOWING IS STRANGE BUT TRUE.

'Twas late last night that I was sitting, in my chamber lonely, knitting,
Knitting on the same old stocking, I'd commenced before the war;
Knitting carefully, I was heeling—when methought I heard one stealing,
Stealing softly up the stairway, leading to my chamber door.

This I thought, and listened more.

Soon I heard a gentle knocking—hastily I dropped my stocking;
Dropped my knitting—the old stocking I commenced before the war.
Again, and louder, came the rapping—as tho' he thought that I was napping;
Me a napping? Knitting, napping? Me who never!
"Ope the door."

This the voice said—"Ope the door!"

"'Tis Sally's voice"—says I—"'tis Sally, and I know she's got some news,
And I'm powerful glad she's come too, for I must dance have the blues.
"Sally," says I, "Sally, howdye?" "What's the news?" Do have a chair?"
"Glorious news, my Peggy darling—glorious news from Market Square,"

"From Shepherd's Store in Market Square."

At Shepherd's Store, they've got new shoes—such beauties now, laced up, tasseled beauties.
Morocco, kid, and patent leather—Congress gaiters, toe-tipped bootees.
Balmoral, Prunello and Creole. Mens and women, boys and girls;
Such a sight it is to behold—they're the cheapest in the world.

The very cheapest in the world.

And Peggy, dear, they've got new hats—military and civilian.
All the style of French fashion—a la Emp'reur Maximillian.
And I told my husband, Johnny, "throw aside that rusty beaver."
"Go to Shepherd's—market square—get a hat you can't deceive,

Get a hat, and burn your beaver."

Well, Peg—John went to market square—he's just got back—rigged up so gay,
A brand new suit from top to toe—and cheap as dirt, for ready pay:
And I advise you, Peggy darling—to give what coin you've got to spare,
To your dear Bobby in the morning—and send him straight to Market Square"

To Shepherd's Store, in Market Square.

"I'll do it, Sally dear"—says I—I'll send Bob early in the morn,
I'll send him straight to Shepherd's Store—I will as sure as I am born.
Good-bye, dear Sally! Must you go? Yes—good-bye, Peggy—now take care,
Be sure that Bob finds the right place—'tis SHEPHERD'S STORE, at Market Square.

Shepherd's Store, at Market Square.

We have a fine assortment of Ready-made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Hats, &c., which we will sell at very low prices.
